

AGED ORANGEMAN, THOMAS J. COOPER IS LAID TO REST

Thomas Johnstone Cooper, one of Wainwright's oldest and most respected citizens passed away on Sunday morning last and was laid to rest in the Wainwright cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. The deceased was over eighty years of age at the time of his death.

The funeral which was attended by members of the Orange Order of which he had been a member for thirty years started from the home of his son, Norman, and proceeded to the Methodist church where an impressive service was conducted by Rev. R.K. Swenerton assisted by Rev. Murphy who preached the sermon in which he referred to the departed saying that they were laying to rest today a grand old warrior, a man who was faithful unto death receiving the crown of life that faded not away reserved in the heavens for him. A Christian gentleman, a member of the church, and a loyal brother of the Orange Order, it was entirely fitting that he should receive the last rites of both church and oration. The two had ever gone hand in hand. The deceased had been faithful to the principles of both. Indeed he could not be true to the one without being true to the other. For the one was founded on the other. And the blessed thought for the brethren was that he having been faithful to these Christian principles while here in the body would still retain his membership unbroken in the everlasting brotherhood of man and in the Fatherhood of God. Reference was also made to the calm and peaceful death of the deceased.

The funeral was largely attended by sympathetic friends and the brethren of the Orange Society, from whose number the pall bearers were chosen, and who assisted at the ceremonies at the graveside. The deceased was born about Kingston, Ontario in the year 1837 where he lived for thirty-two years after which he moved to Victoria County becoming one of the successful farmers of that district. In the year 1908 he came to live with his son, Norman in the Wainwright district where he remained till the time of his death. Mr. Cooper has enjoyed perfect health up till the last, but for the past two years has been practically confined to his bed. He died very calmly, peacefully and without suffering on Sunday morning.

There remains of his family, to mourn his loss, his wife and son Norman of Wainwright, and two daughters, Mrs. Halterman of North Battleford and Mrs. Chenoweth of Heath, Alta.

NO THANK YOU!

The "Star" was this week obliged to say "no thank you" to 180 inches of plate advertising from a mail order house in Winnipeg, for which 25c. an inch was offered if published one issue in the advertising columns. The matter came from Wm. Galloway Co. On account of the excellent support we are receiving from the local merchants through their advertisements it was felt that to decline the offer would only be justice to them.

YOUNG MEN MAY YET VOLUNTEER IN MEDICAL CORPS

We wish to inform young men who are desirous of joining the Army before Conscriptio is put into force, that The Army Medical Corps is still recruiting men for Overseas service, and the present opportunity is the last opportunity they will have of joining this popular Unit. Under Conscriptio it seems likely that there will be no choice as to the Branch of the Army in which a man will serve, and we would urge eligible men to take advantage of this privilege before it is too late. We realize that there may be some who are under the impression that voluntary enlistment is already at an end, and we wish to correct any misapprehension there may be in this regard. By application to Recruiting Headquarters, A. M. C. Training Depot No. 13, Sarcee Camp, Alberta, full information can be obtained.

The company included several ladies of distinction and officers of the G. T. P. system of whom were Howard Kelly, new President of the G.T.P., W. P. We've been over every section of line so far and have travelled over every branch. From here we visit Prince Rupert, Victoria, Vancouver and our docks at Seattle before returning east. We are all greatly pleased with the progress that is being made in the west in spite of war-time conditions and are well satisfied with the excellent volume of business being done by our lines."

A strong denial was given by Mr. Smithers to the report which originated in the east that the Grand Trunk Pacific was arranging a loan of $15,000,000 with Canadian Bankers.

MAN FOUND IN INSANE CONDITION TAKEN TO PONOKO

Sergeant F. W. Shelton of the Provincial Police department here received word on Sunday last from Edgerton that a man was wandering through the country in an insane condition. Shelton immediately proceeded to Edgerton and upon arrival there learned that the man devoid of his senses was wandering aimlessly in the fields of his cousin's farm whose name is Frank Moraw, eight miles north of that town. There were three men watching him and later in the day, accompanied by his insanity he was immediately brought to Wainwright and lodged in the provincial police barracks. While there the man became worse and very dangerous.

On Monday he was brought before Magistrate Ross who confirmed the opinion that he was insane and later in the day accompanied by Sgt. Shelton, assisted by G. Goad the man was transferred to Edmonton and later on to the Ponoko Asylum.

While in Edmonton he tried to commit suicide by striking his head against the bars of the cell and had to be confined in the usual leg irons and straight jacket.

The unfortunate man's name is Richard Moraw. He comes from Waterloo, Ont.; has a wife and six children; was an inmate of the Ponoko Asylum for two years previously.

Evidently the complaint has been coming on gradually. He was in a very dangerous condition but it was noticed that the influence of Father Carpenter, whose assistance was called for, had the effect of bringing quiet to the man's mind.

Miss May Reid went to Irma today for a few days visit with the former acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have returned home to Montreal after having spent a pleasant holiday with Mrs. Villiers.

TRAVELLING CLERIC ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE BUFFALO PARK

Travelling through the west on a pleasure trip, Rev. Mr. Morrison of Sarnia, Ontario stayed off here last week to see the sights at the Buffalo Park. The Buffalo, Cattle and other animals aroused his enthusiastic interest. He considered the herd of buffalo the greatest thing on the continent and was surprised that the Dominion government or Wainwright itself did not advertise it more. Several thousand dollars in advertising he considered would be well spent. If the people of Wainwright only knew, it, he said, it would be the biggest drawing card in the country. As an example of how little people really know of the park here Mr. Morrison told us that his friends in the east advised him to take a telescope with him if he wanted to see the buffalo. He told him that they were so wild and dangerous that no one could get near them. So he brought a telescope. He was therefore surprised and delighted when he found that he could get within photographic range of the animals and took away with him several splendid pictures. He also spoke of the splendid courtesy accorded him by Superintendent Smith and assured us that he would be one who would try to advertise for us to his eastern friends, the Buffalo Park.

Harry Archibald was the lucky shooter one day last week at Baxter. The geese seemed to be plentiful and came in for his rapid and successful fire. Out of the bunch he secured a couple of splendid birds. So elated over his success he says he will go back again.

A serious gun accident was narrowly averted at Baxter Lake on Monday morning. Sergeant Shelton of the Alberta Police force and Postmaster McLeod were the victims. It was in the early morning when they were at one end of the bridge and McLeod at the other. As the former rose from his kneeling position to fire on the approaching ducks his gun accidentally exploded. The shot carried across to McLeod striking him in the legs. Several No. 5 shots are embedded in the flesh. They immediately returned to town and secured the assistance of Dr. Little who succeeded in extracting some of the lead and disinfecting the effected parts. Apart from an awkward stiffness in the legs it is thought that no more serious complications will set in.

Did you see the Happy Farmer in town last Saturday? He attracted quite a bit of attention as he rushed around. He is small and very active and strong. Herb Smith brought him to town and Arthur Durie accompanied him teaching him how to turn the corners without running into the sign posts and to go on the east side of the street when going north and to go on the north side of the Avenue when going west. All this and a great many more things the Happy Farmer engine and tractor learned last Saturday when it got off the freight train and while being delivered to Anderson Brothers. See H. ## FUNERAL OF LITTLE MOFFAT DAVEY IS LARGELY ATTENDED

The death of George Moffat Davey which occurred in Edmonton last Friday afternoon was one which stirred the entire population of Wainwright to sympathy. He had been ailing for a day or so before with intestinal toxemia and on Thursday last was removed to an Edmonton Hospital for special care and treatment, but despite the best medical attention that could be secured, chest involvement set in and the little life passed away at the early age of two years, three months and eighteen days.

The little boy whose mother is dead and whose father, Corp. E. Davey, is on active service in Europe, was one in whom all who knew him or of him was deeply interested, there being that something about the little fellow that won a way for him into every heart.

Since his mother's death he has been under the care and protection of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Washburn, who have been all to him that mortals could have been and he was a very vital part of their life. To them, his father and to Mr. and Mrs. Davey the Grandfather and Grandmother the people of Wainwright are deeply sincere in their expressions of sympathy.

The funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Presbyterian church and was largely attended not only by the adults but by members of the Sunday School, who occupied the western section of the church. The multitude of floral tributes upon the little casket and the decorations of the church with flowers by the parents and children of the Sunday School all spoke their own kindly and feeling messages.

In midst that blinded every eye, the service was conducted by the pastor of the church, who sought to raise the service to a new plane, give a message of cheer and hope. The words that could best express the feeling and hope of all present that day were found in the following lines:

"Not now, but in the coming years,
It may be in the better land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears."
And there, sometime, we'll understand.

We'll catch the broken threads again,
And finish what we here began;
Heaven will the mystery explain.
And then, ah then, we'll understand.

We'll know why clouds instead of light,
Were over many a cherished plan;
Why song has ceased, when scarce begun;
'Tis then, sometime, we'll understand.

Why wait we long for most of all,
Eludes so oft our eager hand,
Why hopes are crushed and castles fall,
Up there, sometime, we'll understand.

God knows the way, He holds the key,
He guides us with unerring hand;
Sometime with tearless eyes we'll see;
Yes, there, up there, we'll understand.

Then trust in God tho' all thy days
Fear not for He doth hold thy hand;
Tho' dark thy way, still sing and praise;
Sometime, sometime, we'll understand.

The interment was made in the Wainwright cemetery, in the family plot. The pall bearers were: W. S. Brodie, H. P. May, M.G. Cardell and W. E. Mills.

Reasonable Peace Terms That Should Be Imposed on Germany

Peace terms appear at the present time to cause an immense amount of worry to all the pro-German followers of the Kaiser in the United States, from Cumhisee Bill, Stone down through the Riddlerbund to Herr Wilhelm Heast.

To ease their troubled minds, as they see Germany tottering to a fall, it would be a kindness to state the minimum terms on which Germany can secure that peace which she craves in July, 1914.

The dehumiliation of the Hohenzollerns and the establishment of a government of and by the people.

The restoration by Germany of the millions of francs stolen under the name of "loans" to the "neutral" powers.

The restoration by Germany of the funds stolen from the banks of Belgium and northern France.

The return by Germany of the tons of valuable machinery and material stolen from the factories of Belgium and northern France.

The return to Denmark of her provinces of Schleswig and Holstein, stolen by Bismarck in 1866.

The cession by Austria to Italy of the Trentino, the city of Trieste and the eastern coast of the Adriatic.

The establishment of a Polish republic in the territory of the former kingdom of Poland.

The expulsion of the Turks from European Turkey and the internationalization of Constantinople.

The liberation of Syria and Mesopotamia from Turkish rule.

The division of the long mis-governed German colonies among the allies.

The return of Heligoland to Great Britain.

The surrender to the allies of German merchant tonnage equivalent to the tonnage destroyed by the piratical submarine warfare.

The payment by Germany of all claims for cargoes destroyed and damages for loss of life.

The payment by Germany for all restorations of buildings, public and private, destroyed by her armies.

The return to the owners of all objects of art, literature, rare books, and other articles stolen by the German princes and others in the invaded territories, or full payment therefor.

The payment of a heavy indemnity by Germany, of such amount as may be determined by the allies, but not to be less than ten times the amount imposed by Prussia on France in 1871.

The maintenance at the expense of Germany of sufficient troops of the allies in garrison at Berlin, Hamburg and such other points as the war council of the allies may direct until all the above conditions of the allies are fully met.—Letter to the New York Sun.

Helfrich Replies

To Lloyd George

Says British Premier's Latest Statement are Mere Humbug

Vice-Chancellor Helfrich during debate before the main committee of the Reichstag said the reason Great Britain entered the war in 1917 presumably have reached the level of the trade of Great Britain.

"This war," the vice-chancellor said, "is the result of tension created by the fact that Great Britain was constantly feeling the glaring and increasing disproportion between her superior world and naval power and Germany's increasing economic strength."

"One ought clearly to recognize that Great Britain's object was not economic oppression. To abandon oneself to any illusion in this respect would be fatal."

Dr. Helfrich repudiated as unjustified the reproach that he ever made any prophecies respecting the efficacy of the German submarine warfare.

"Prophecies," he said, "I leave to Great Britain's premier. Lloyd George's statistics in his latest speech are mere humbug."

The vice-chancellor said that the situation—although it certainly has not become more favorable—this proves that public feeling in Great Britain is still in need to be comforted and second that Lloyd George's statistics are necessary to play upon German public opinion.

This impression is confirmed by the obvious consideration that Premier Lloyd George's words can only be explained by a desire to create a menace which operates despite the prospect of American aid, and yet from the very fact that the German front, with an immense concentration of men and material, is not so much on land or in the air as it is in the water.

The opinion shared by Mr. Lloyd George that the weather is particularly favorable for U-boat activity is a mistaken one. Smooth seas and hills in the wind are very disagreeable for German U-boats.

The view of the enemy's extensive measures regarding aircraft in particular.

"The navigation of the German fleet is obstructed by the scope of U-boats, of course, but it also involves considerable disadvantages for the German fleet, owing to the fact that such a flotilla is hampered and has difficulty in reaching the Atlantic coast."

"The 'Eat Less Bread' campaign was inaugurated in England about March 1917, and the decrease of food consumption for the month of March was two per cent, for the month of April four per cent, for the month of May nearly ten per cent, and for the month of June fifteen per cent."

An additional conservation of wheat amounting to nearly ten per cent has been reached by the establishing of new rules regarding milling.

The saving now being obtained is largely accredited to the intelligent co-operation of women in their homes. The compulsory saving policy, however, was applied to the public eating houses.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause to the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and the result is the result of the worm's Worn Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

A Paean for Sea Food

Supply of Fish the Only Food That Is Inexhaustible

It is estimated that the fish consumption is about twenty pounds to the person a year. The consumption of meat is about one hundred and seventy pounds per capita a year; these are averages, of course, but they are approximately correct. The meat supply, one of the most practical ways of doing this would be to educate the people to make greater use of fish. One way to obtain a greater appreciation of fish would be to supply the public with information about its food value, and recipes for its preparation. A great many people do not understand how to prepare fish for the table. Many people have an unfavorable opinion of fish as food because they have never eaten it properly cooked.

Prussian Means "Sp"

Spaving is just as essential an ingredient of Prussian character as the concept, indifference to the feelings of others, jealousy, envy, self-satisfaction, industry, and indifference to cruelty, veneration for officialdom, imitiveness, nationalism and the other national attributes that we get to those who know Prussia, as distinct from the other German states.

Want To Know Why Under Democracy We Will Know

In Germany, under autocracy, they say "Verboten" and that ends it. No-barracks ask why. In a democracy the multitude is accustomed to ask why when anyone says "Verboten."

The law and fear must be around the block and the plain people may say nothing. The autocrat may drive countless days if he wishes and we beside him who asks questions. Under democracy we will know the reason.

One of the first things German children learn to ask is why. One of the first things German children learn to ask is why. One of the first things German children learn to ask is why.

The eternal desire to ask and learn and reason is going to be the end of the world. The eternal desire to ask and learn and reason is going to be the end of the world.

Constancy

When Masculine Constancy Turned a Sudden Somersault

A story about Lord Kitchener, who was often spoken of as "the most distinguished Bachelor in the world," is being told by a young member of his staff when he was in India asked for a furlough in order to go home to be married. Kitchener listened to him patiently, then he said:

"Wait a year. If then you still desire to do this thing you shall have it."

The year passed. The officer once more proffered his request.

"After thinking it over for twelve months," said Kitchener, "you still wish to marry?"

"Very well, you shall have your furlough," Kitchener said, "but I am so much constancy in the masculine world."

"I am so much constancy in the masculine world," Kitchener said, "but I am so much constancy in the masculine world."

Animals Under Fire

Cats Do Not Mind Machine Guns or Shells

Different animals will act differently under heavy bombardment, the same as different men will act differently under stress. In a village have shown great distress when shells burst near them and howl piteously. On the other hand they have been known to dash along the front of a trench during an infantry fight, barking and apparently enjoying the noise. Cats have been seen to care whether they are shelled or not. They are not frightened by machine guns or shells, as long as they have a dry corner and food when they are hungry. There have been instances of lost dogs and cats actually venturing into British trenches during an engagement. Some of them lived in cottages near the firing line, others strayed a long distance. A west country yeomanry contingent was adopted in the thick of a fight by a cat which was lying on a table in a trench that killed many men, and has since lived untroubled in billets with its identification disc around its neck.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother feeds her child with unclean water or gives her child a cold, or gives her child a cold, or gives her child a cold.

Give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally, will keep the child healthy and prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially useful in cases of cholera infantum, which is a very common disease in the summer months. They are also useful in cases of diarrhoea, which is a very common disease in the summer months. They are also useful in cases of cholera infantum, which is a very common disease in the summer months.

How Canada Cares for Her Disabled Soldiers—A New Chance for Every Defender

A corner of the cobblers' room in one of Canada's military convalescent hospitals has been turned into a barber's shop. The barber, of course, is a soldier, but, unable to do his own work, he has been trained for the razor. The cobbler, too, is a soldier, but, unable to do his own work, he has been trained for the hammer and last.

At a recent military review, a soldier who had been trained for the hammer and last, was seen to be working at his trade. THE CALL TO

SERVICE

THE MILITARY Service Act

has become law. Report has it that the government intends to immediately, exercise its power and call out men for military service in the order provided in the Act. The proclamation calling men of the first class will be is-ued October 1st.

The necessity for an immediate draft will be seen when we reflect that in the last two weeks the Canadian casualties amounted to 7475 men. It was hoped, some time ago that Canada would be able to send a fifth division to the front. That is barely possible now. But we should be able to abundantly reinforce our sadly depleted four divisions and strengthen the men who have so gallantly represented us. The policy of the government in passing the military service bill is entirely to be commended. The law has been drafted with care so as to make the burden rest as lightly as possible upon the nation. The first call is upon bachelors and widowers between the ages of 20 and 34, and the leader in the policy expresses the hope that no other call may be necessary. The tribunal to deal with exemptions, will insure the leaving at home men whose occupations are such as are necessary to the nations well being or whose going to active service would create and actual hardship in family ties.

We hope that the law will be scrupulously observed and obeyed, and that young men who heretofore, from one reason or another did not volunteer for active service will now look upon this as an actual call to service and will accept it willingly. Those who do so should receive their share of honor and be treated with due respect not only now but in the better days after the conflict.

COLLEGE COURSE IN AGRICULTURE BECOMES POPULAR

There are three schools of agriculture operating in the province of Alberta one at Vermilion, one at Olds and the other at Claresholm and it is not altogether unlikely that one will be established in Wainwright in the near future. These schools are located where there are demonstration farms and work in co-operation with them in lifting agriculture upon a higher plane. It will be remembered that there is a committee of the local board of trade at work trying to influence the government to establish a demonstration farm here and the matter is receiving careful attention. In the course of time a demonstration farm will be established at Wainwright which is most appropriate and strategic place. That being done the natural sequence would be an agricultural college where the young men of the district are desirous of taking up farming as a profession may be taught the best methods intelligently.

At the present time, however, the nearest school is the Vermilion which is doing an excellent work in improved farming. Farmers are no longer looking askance at educational farming but realize that the more proficient they are in their work the more service they will be to themselves and to their community.

There are two courses offered in the Vermilion school of agriculture. The courses both cover five months each year for two years. One course is in agriculture for farmer's sons and the other is household science for the farmer's daughters. The course opens on the 30th of October and continues for the five winter months. There are no tuition fees.

In the agricultural course practical subjects are taken up: subject such as: Judging, feeding and caring of livestock, handling of soils and crops, courses in carpentry, blacksmithing, poultry, dairying, veterinary science, horticulture, weeds seed identification and eradication, and elementary courses in English mathematics, book-keeping, chemistry and physics, constitute the major part of the curriculum.

In all the work taught in the schools of agriculture everything is made to bear on the practical side of farming. The school has an excellent equipment, and it is used to the best advantage by a proficient staff of workers. At the end of the two years work a diploma in agriculture is presented to those obtaining the required pass mark. Men successful in securing this certificate, and who have gained a fairly high pass mark in all the subjects, may take an advanced agricultural course covering three years degree work at the Alberta University, Edmonton.

The home makers course is also very practical. It is intended to make the women who take it good home makers. It includes some theory and a great deal of practise on sewing, cooking, home nursing, home administration, laundrying, household book-keeping, household sanitation, dairying, poultry, horticulture, field husbandry, and the sciences as applied to the home. To those satisfactorily completing the course a home makers' certificate is presented. Provision for advanced study in domestic science is provided by the Alberta University, Edmonton.
